

LAS Online Incentives Program

Online courses incur a $100 Online course fees. These monies are used for online software licenses and technology support, specialized online teaching equipment and materials, to cover the cost of online course development, travel to conferences focusing on online pedagogy, and associated instructional costs of delivery
All LAS tenure-track and instructor-track faculty members are eligible for these incentives.

Digital Accessibility

Departments may provide a teaching assistant for an online course that requires a substantial amount of work to make the course materials digitally accessible. Pay shall be at standard and typical College rates up to a $2000 maximum and can be paid in one lump sum or hourly, at the department chair's discretion. Written justification must be provided describing the nature and scope of the work.

If you would like the Faculty Resource Center's Digital Accessibility Specialist to help with whatever training your TA might need, please email frc@uccs.edu.
